

1984 Congressional Essay Winner

Written by Allen, Joy

Friday, January 19, 2018 02:20 PM

This newspaper clipping from The Daily Southerner in February 1984 announces Lora Moseley, a Tarboro High School student, who won a contest.

Winners of the contest attend a week long workshop in our nation's capital where they learn about the federal government.

At the time this article was written, The National Society of The Colonial Dames of America had been sponsoring a contest for students to write essays about the federal government.

More From the Scrapbook

