

Old Salem President Moves into Fourth House

Written by Allen, Joy

Monday, March 20, 2017 04:59 PM

The new president of Old Salem Museum and Gardens recently moved into the Fourth House, the oldest building in the village. Built in 1768, the home is owned by the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of North Carolina.

The Winston-Salem Journal chronicled the event with a photo gallery, a video and a story about Old Salem's new president, Frank Vagnone.

View the Story
More News...